

The Clio Society Presents:

American Ways.

An Overview of Four Centuries of Consistent National Behavior.

Steve Millett was the inspiration behind the Clio Society. A Ph.D. in History from The Ohio State University, he was a technology futurist and thought leader at Battelle for nearly 30 years.

with Steve Millett, Ph.D.

The American people have displayed consistent patterns of behavior for more than 400 years. They have placed great value on individual merits, rights, and interests. The driving force of most Americans has been the sustained optimism of the “American Dream,” the ideal that the future will be better than the past in material and emotional terms. Looking toward the future, the success of American optimism and the management of fear rests upon the pursuit of opportunities as presented in five likely scenarios to 2050.

Thurs., September 22, 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Panera Bread Community Room, 875 Bethel Road, Columbus, OH 43214
Presented by the Department of History's Clio Society
clio.osu.edu

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY